Mariko Mukai Ando (Widow of MIS Veteran)

Mariko (Mukai) Ando died peacefully Friday morning, March 10, 2017, after 97 full years of life. Born in Seattle, Washington in 1919 to Japanese immigrant parents, Mariko, the first born of five children, was the first American citizen in her family. As a young girl, she and her siblings, Frank, George, Lily, and Henry, helped to run their father's movie theaters and the family bait and tackle shop located in Seattle's "Chinatown". A talented vocalist from an early age, Mariko performed her first concert at just 10 years old. She graduated salutatorian from Garfield High School in 1937 and went on to study music at the University of Washington. In 1938, Mariko became the first Nisei to sing in a grand opera in Seattle, as Abigail in The Queen of Sheba. At UW she performed as Susanna in Mozart's Marriage of Figaro and Rosina in Rossini's Barber of Seville (1940). In 1941, she was awarded a four-year scholarship to the Juilliard School of Music in New York. After Pearl Harbor was attacked, her family was displaced from Seattle, and she had to overcome housing discrimination and racism in New York. She received great critical acclaim, performing solo concerts in such venues as New York's Town Hall and Little Carnegie Hall. Her radio debut came in 1946 with vocals in P.A. Young's "Nine September" with Canada Lee and Gene Kelly. In 1947, a New York Times review extolled her "exceptional charm, skill and intelligence" as both a lyric and coloratura soprano, and the "graceful ease" with which she moved from one operatic style to another. In September 1947, she married Tomomi Ando, a young Texan Japanese-American military officer and lived on several military bases, Baltimore, and Seattle, before ultimately settling in Alexandria, Virginia with their four children. Mariko continued to sing, performing in Denver's Tabor Grand Opera House as Gilda in Verdi's Rigoletto, and in 1955, performing for President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Later in life, Mariko continued to bring joy to others through music, serving as director of the Fort Myer South Post Chapel Choir, and as a soloist at the Fort Myer Old Post and Memorial Chapels, where she was beloved not only for her vocal talents but for her warm and endearing presence, her easy laughter, and her joyful spirit. In 1989, Mariko was predeceased by her beloved husband of 42 years. She will be buried beside him at Arlington National Cemetery, July 5, 2017. She is survived by her 4 children and 6 grandchildren.

Ignacio Sanchez Carmona (Army Veteran)

Ignacio "Nacho" Sanchez Carmona, of Oxnard, who celebrated his 100th birthday in December, passed away peacefully Sunday, March 26, 2017 at St. John's Pleasant Valley Hospital surrounded by his loving family. Ignacio was born on Dec. 8th, 1916 in Ocotlan, Jalisco, Mexico.

In 1923, the Carmona family came to the U.S. to escape the Mexican Revolution. Ignacio lived and attended school in Los Angeles for approximately 9 years. After school and on weekends he worked washing cars, selling fruit, and helped out at a gas station to help support his family.

After his father lost his job, Ignacio along with his family moved to Oxnard where he began his 80+ year residency. He attended Woodrow Wilson Junior High School and worked in the fields picking lima beans and lemons. As Ignacio grew older, he worked on cars, worked at Villa Real Market where he learned about managing a business, and then worked as a blacksmith for Matt Shriner, repairing farm equipment.

During World War II, the Takasugi family, owners of the Asahi Market, were ordered into a Japanese-American Internment Camp. A business deal was agreed upon with a HANDSHAKE, when Ignacio offered to run the business. Upon Takasugi's return, Ignacio, keeping his promise, handed back the keys to the store, which was featured in a book written by Tom Brokaw, "The Greatest Generation."

Ignacio married his beloved wife Emma on June 25, 1944. Several months after his marriage, Ignacio was drafted into the Army and had to leave his wife, who was pregnant, to serve his country. Ignacio received his citizenship, on June 21, 1946.

In 1945, Ignacio returned with a deferment from the Army, to help his mother care for her 6 grandchildren. Being the eldest son, he felt the obligation to help his parents raise his nieces and nephews, after his sister passed away. Ignacio went back to work for Matt Shriner performing blacksmith work and also learned how to weld. He then went to work for Bush-Metcalf's General Motors and Packard Dealership for 15 years and became a full-fledged licensed mechanic. He wanted to open his own business, which lead him to open "Carmona's Richfield Gas Station & Auto Repair" in La Colonia in 1961.

Ignacio enjoyed attending family gatherings, loved music and singing, and was very active in the Ventura County Community. He served on the Grand Jury in 1969, on the Parks & Harbor Commission from 1973-1988, served as Chairman of Colonia Neighborhood Council from 1974-1981, the Juvenile Justice Commission from 1975-1987, the Ventura County Parks & Recreation Commission from 1974-1989, and on the Building Committee for Oxnard School District in 1994. Ignacio was a distinguished citizen and received "Oxnard's Distinguished Citizen of the Year" award in 1986 for all of his volunteerism and service to the community. Ignacio was also a member of The American Legion and was a Lifetime Member of The Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He was preceded in death by his parents Jose and Soledad Carmona, five siblings, and his wife Emma. He is survived by his seven children, Max (Susan) Pina Sr. of Fillmore, Arthur (Lorraine) Carmona Sr., Ruben Carmona Sr., Lilian Magana, Ignacio (Dianne) Carmona Jr., all of Oxnard, James Carmona Sr. of Las Vegas, David (Pat) Carmona Sr., also of Oxnard, 22 grandchildren, 38 great-grandchildren, and 4 great-great-grandchildren. He is also survived by two brothers Angel Carmona and Alfred Carmona (Annie), numerous nieces, nephews and friends. A special thank you to all the wonderful caregivers and staff at Oxnard Family Circle, Glenwood Care Center, Assisted Hospice Program at Applegate Assisted Living Home nurses Dawn and Ali, and Brookdale Camarillo Assisted Living, for the special care they provided to our father.

Visitation will be held on Sunday, April 02, 2017 from 10:00a.m. to 9:00p.m. with a rosary to be recited at 6:00p.m. at the Garcia Mortuary Chapel in Oxnard. She met her beloved husband, Kiyo, at a Thanksgiving dinner in Chicago, sparking a wonderful lifelong journey of marriage and family.

Miriam practiced nursing in her earlier years, but her greatest accomplishment was raising two sons and a daughter to become warm, kind and successful individuals, just like her and Kiyo. Miriam was loved and admired by those she touched throughout her lifetime, and was widely known for her warm and generous heart, gregarious personality, sharp wit and contagious laugh. Never one to be shy, she had an uncanny way of quickly making new friends everywhere she went. Her spunky personality and beautiful smile will be missed by all who knew and loved her.

Delores Jean Germar Ikawa (Widow of MIS Veteran)

92, formerly of Indianapolis, passed away on Saturday, April 1, 2017 at the home of her daughter in Shelbyville, KY.

"Jean" was born in Wayne, Nebraska, to the late Edward and Lillian (Deyo) Germar. After graduating from Thomas Jefferson H.S. in Council Bluffs, Iowa in 1942, she received her nursing training at St. Mary's College in Omaha, NE and did additional training at Vanderbilt University School of Nursing. She later continued her education, receiving her B.S. from The College of St. Francis in 1983. She was a Registered Nurse for 41 years. In her early career she worked a polio ward in Nebraska and a mental hospital in Nashville. She moved to Hilo, Hawaii originally to assist with a polio outbreak (and experience better weather). Here she met her future husband Richard whom she described as "the worst patient she ever had" though he did take time off from complaining about his care to operate a sports book within the hospital. Interracial couples were rare in those days but social norms couldn't stop the natural pairing of a nurse and a hemophiliac, and they were married on April 1, 1948. The majority of her career was spent on the night shift at Labor and Delivery "3-South" at Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis. At the same time, she raised her five children and was a wonderful mother. Although she had little time for herself, the countless hours she spent reading to her children and taking them to libraries and museums greatly enriched their subsequent lives. She and Richard attended innumerable school concerts, plays and recitals of varying degrees of quality and Little League games of consistently low quality.

After her children finally left and she retired from nursing, she continued to lead an active life. She was a member of the Red Hat Society, The Browsers, and a quilting club. She worked as a poll watcher, tutored children, and took many classes and trips with Oasis. A longtime congregant of St. Andrew the Apostle Catholic Church in Indianapolis, she volunteered with the church's "Andy's Boutique" served on the sewing committee, and took calls for St. Vincent de Paul Society. For several years she enjoyed ballroom dancing with her husband and friends at Scott Dance Studio. In her 80's, she picked up playing "Words with Friends" with distant family and a complete stranger named "Chuck". She read voraciously, wrote extensively, and traveled widely.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, Richard "Kenji" Ikawa and daughter, Ann Jensen. She is survived by four children, Jayne (Dr. Mike) Johnson of Shelbyville, KY, Dr. Bruce (Kay) Ikawa of Hillsdale, MI, Margaret Ikawa (Rafael Mazas) of Madrid, Spain and Doris (Cris) Gomez of Cicero, IN; two sisters, Doris "Jody" Milliman of Brandenburg, KY and Lillian "Billie" Cunningham of Council Bluffs, IA; son-in-law, Tom Jensen of Lebanon, IL; five grandchildren, Daniel Jensen, Dr. Jeanne Doi Flounders, Joann Monfort-Chang, Julia Jensen and Robert Gomez, and two great-grandchildren, Sofia Monfort-Chang and Isabel Monfort-Chang. A gathering will be held at Webb Funeral Home in Shelbyville, Kentucky on Tuesday, April 4, 2017 at 6:30 p.m. with a brief prayer service at 7 p.m. There will also be a gathering at 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 5, 2017 at the chapel at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens, 9700 Allisonville Road, in Indianapolis followed by a brief chapel service at 2 p.m. and burial. Arrangements have been entrusted to Webb Funeral Home. Online condolences may be expressed at www.webbfuneralhome.com. Published in the The Indianapolis Star on Apr. 4, 2017

Dr. Gordon H. SATO

Age 89, noted mammalian cell biologist and member of the National Academy of Science, died peacefully on March 31, 2017 at home. Sato was the last graduate student to study bacteriophage biology with Max Delbrück, was a co-founder of the field of molecular biology and received a Ph.D in Biophysics from Cal Tech in 1955. In his own academic research, Sato sought to adapt microbiology methods to the study of mammalian cells. His lab established the first mammalian cell lines to retain differentiated functions when cultured outside the body, and it used a novel approach to grow and study differentiated cells in culture. Sato and collaborators also created the monoclonal antibody that became the drug Erbitux (cetuximab) that treated cancers of the colon and the head and neck in a new way. Sato grew up on Terminal Island in Los Angeles harbor and was interned as a teenager with his family in the Manzanar Relocation Center during World War II. The years spent in the desert of the Owen Valley inspired Sato to start the Manzanar Project in the 1980's to investigate ways of making deserts adjacent to oceans agriculturally productive. The goal was to use low tech methods to generate food for consumption or trade. The feasibility of the idea was demonstrated by planting hundreds of thousands of mangrove trees along the Red Sea in Eritrea that were used to feed livestock. For these efforts, Sato received the Rolex Award for Enterprise in 2002 and the Blue Plate Prize from The Asahi Glass Foundation in 2005. Dr. Sato is survived by his wife, C. Josette Gaudreau of Wenham, MA, his six children and six grandchildren. Services will be private. Online condolences at www.campbellfuneral.com.
